The Line of Descent of FATHER NASH

from THOMAS NASH, of New Haven, Conn., from "The Nash Family" by Sylvester Nash; 1853

On the 26th of July, 1637, from the Ship "Hector" and another not named, a company landed at Boston, Mass., formed principally by Merchants of London, whose wealth and standing at home enabled them to come out to America under more favorable auspices than any company that had hitherto sought these shores.

They were accompanied by the Rev. John Davenport as their Pastor, and are supposed to have been mostly members of his Church and congregation in London. The Leaders were men of good practical understanding, and had probably provided for the anticipated wants of an infant Colony by bringing with them men skilled in such arts as were likely to be most needed.

In that company, it is supposed, came THOMAS NASH, with a wife and five children. He was by occupation a gunsmith, a trade admitting of an easy transition to that of blacksmith, thus rendering him doubly useful to a people whose situation required that both arms and instruments of husbandry should be kept in repair.

There is no mention of his wife except in the seating of the Meeting-House, and then her Christian name is not given. But from a record of the Baker Family, found in the British Museum, it is highly probable that her name was Margery and that she was the daughter of Nicholas Baker, of Hertfordshire, England.

Mr. Thomas Nash died May 12, 1658, and his wife about 1656.

The following were their children:

1- Mary		m. Roger Allen, or Alling
2- John		m. Elizabeth ---, probably Tapp
3- Sarah		m. Robert Talmage
4- Joseph		twice married
5- TIMOTHY	1626	m. Rebeckah Stone

TIMOTHY NASH, usually called Lieut. Timothy Nash, was the youngest child of Thomas Nash, the emigrant, and was born in England, or at Leyden, Holland, in 1626.

On the 4th of March, 1654, the freeman's oath was administered to 29 persons, including Thomas Nash. Timothy was trained in his father's occupation, a gunsmith, and he, like others, gradually changed it into that of an ordinary blacksmith, more useful and necessary for the settlers.

His marriage was recorded thus, undated: "Timothy Nash and Rebeckah Stone were married by ---". It and the births of his two eldest children were recorded at New Haven. Timothy Nash is included in the group of about sixty persons who, discouraged by much dissension within their Church, agreed to withdraw from their mother Colony, and went to Hadley, Mass., opening up a new settlement there.... He was a useful and respectable citizen, frequently employed in Town Affairs. He held the office of Lieutenant in the militia, by which title he is still designated. And it should be remembered that a military title in those days was generally a sign of real merit.

He represented the Town of Hadley at the General Court of Massachusetts in 1690, 1691, and 1695. He died March 13, 1699, and his wife in 1709.

Children of Timothy and Rebeckah (Stone) Nash:

1-	Rebekah	Mar.12,1657/8	d. young
2-	Samuel	Feb.3,1659/60	d. 1668
3-	Thomas
4-	Joseph	Jan.27,1663/4	d. unmarried in 1740
5-	Timothy	about 1665
6-	John	Aug.21,1667
7-	Samuel	June 17, 1669
8-	Hope	Nov.26,1670	m. Isaac Warner
9-	Ebenezer	Oct.25,1673
10-	DANIEL	1676
11-	Ephraim	1682
12-	Mary	--	d. Dec.19,1687

DANIEL NASH, son of Lieut. Timothy Nash, of Hadley, Mass., was born about 1676. He was a blacksmith, and had a house and shop on a lot situated at the corner of Bridge and Market Streets, on which the Episcopal Church in Northampton, and the house next southwest of it, now stand,(1853). In 1726, he sold out in Northampton, and his name next appears in the records of Hadley, South Precinct (now South Hadley). Whether he went directly from Northampton to South Hadley is not now known. Another Daniel Nash, son of his brother John Nash, of Hadley, settled in the South Precinct about 1730, and for a few years there were two of the same name there, both blacksmiths, designated as Senior and Junior. The name of the elder disappears from the records of South Hadley about 1738, and is next mentioned in Upper Housatonick (now Great Barrington, Mass.) in 1739, where it seems he passed the remainder of his life. All that is known of him subsequently is from the following inscription on an old gray stone in the old grave-yard at Great Barrington,--"Here lies the body of Daniel Nash, who died March 10,A.D. 1760, aged 84. O Eternity! O Eternity!" It is not known when nor where his wife died.

He married, June 1, 1710, Experience Clark, of Northampton, Mass. Of her ancestry, the following appears as a Foot-note:

"William Clark and wife Sarah came over and settled at Dorchester, between 1636 and 1639. He removed to Northampton about 1660, and died July 18, 1690, age 81. He was one of our principal men and held many offices. His son John married Rebecca

Cooper on July 12, 1677. She died the following year, leaving one child, and John Clark married, 2d, Mary Strong, a daughter of Elder John Strong on March 20, 1679, and had by her eleven children, one of whom was Experience, born Oct.30,1689, who married Daniel Nash on June 1, 1710.[9]

The children of Daniel and Experience (Clark) Nash were:

1- Sylvanus	Jan.11,1712
2- Zeruiah	Nov.2,1713	m. John Beals; Simon Willard
3- Daniel	Sep.13,1715
4- Experience	Dec.26,1716	d. 1725
5- Joseph	Apr.23,1718
6- Onesimus
7- JONATHAN	Dec. 3,1721
8- Rebecca		m. Asahel King
9- Josiah
10- Phineas

JONATHAN NASH, Esq., son of Daniel Nash of Northampton and Great Barrington, Mass., was born Dec.3,1721. He probably went with his father from South Hadley to Upper Housatonick (then a part of Sheffield, Mass., and now, Great Barrington, Mass.) when he was about 18 years of age. The first mention of his name in the Sheffield records was in 1746. He was chosen Constable in 1750, one of the Selectmen and Assessors in 1756-7-8, and held other offices at different times. In 1761 Upper Housatonick was set off and incorporated as a separate town, and named Great Barrington. In the new town he was a man highly respected; was frequently employed in town affairs, as moderator of town-meetings, Selectman, Assessor, Warden, Overseer of the Workhouse, etc., and was many years an acting Magistrate of the County. He, too, was a blacksmith, and his shop stood a rod or two north of his house.

Jonathan Nash married, July 19, 1744, Anna Maria Spoor, of Taghconick, N.Y., who was born in August 1717. Jonathan died at Great Barrington on Nov.4,1793, and Mrs. Nash died there on Apr.2,1799. Their children were:

1- Sarah	Apr.15,1745	d. Oct.26,1772
2- Mary	Nov.28,1746	m. Ichabod Hopkins
3- Josiah	Jan.1,1748	died at Burrville, Jeff.Co.,N.Y.
4- Jonathan	Mar.3,1749	died in Great Barrington
5- John	June 26,1751	settled in Cape Vincent, N.Y.
6- Phinehas	June 1, 1754	d. unmarried in 1777
7- Joanna	Nov.4,1755	d. " in 1779
8- Experience	Apr.18,1760	m. Dan. Chappell
9- DANIEL	May 28, 1763	settled in Otsego Co., N.Y.

Known as FATHER NASH and APOSTLE OF THE WEST.

THE REV. DANIEL NASH, A.B.

From "The Nash Family"; Descendants of Thomas Nash, of New Haven, Conn., by the Rev. Sylvester Nash. 1853

"THE REV. DANIEL NASH, A.B., youngest son of Jonathan Nash, Esq., of Great Barrington, Mass., born May 28, 1763, familiarly known in Otsego and adjacent counties in New York State as FATHER NASH, filled, perhaps, the most extensive sphere of usefulness of any of the NASH name; yet nothing is now known of his youthful history, and but little of his ministerial life, beyond the fact that he was a much loved and extensively useful minister of the Gospel. He appears to have been one of those Christians who act as seeing things invisible, with very little concern for earthly things or human opinions,--claiming no eminence of talent, but having an eye single to the glory of God, and a heart overflowing with love for the souls of men.

"The few facts obtained are chiefly from some of his MSS. in the hands of his grandson, Edward N. Munroe, of Burlington, Otsego Co., N.Y., and from the recollections of the Rev. and venerable Dr. D. Burhans, now (1852) 90 years of age.

"Daniel Nash graduated at Yale College in 1785, in the same class with Noah Webster, and was a member of the Congregational Church, of which there is among his papers a certificate dated Aug.15,1783, signed by Samuel Wales, Pastor of that church in New Haven. It is said that he was at one time a licensed teacher of that order, and was studying under the supervision of the celebrated Dr. Hopkins.

The following sketch is from Dr. Burhans:

"The first of my personal acquaintance with the late Rev. Daniel Nash was at Great Barrington, Mass., in the autumn of 1793. Having spent two or three years in teaching a select school* in New Jersey, under the patronage of the late Bishop Croes, he returned to his native place to attend the settlement of his father's estate, who had recently deceased. I was introduced to him by the late Rev. Gideon Bostwick, and a last friendship then was commenced.

I soon found Mr. Nash, in addition to h s natural and acquired talents, in possession of catholic views of the Apostolic Church, in primitive doctrine and discipline, but above all, of a lively, practical faith, manifested in humility and sobriety, with a cheerful countenance,--affable in conversation,--without cant, familiar on religious subjects, which endeared him to me, and to all his acquaintances.

* His son, Dr. Wm. C. Nash, recollects hearing his father say that he taught an academy nine years, before he was ordained, first at Pittsgrove, then at Swedesboro, N.J. He probably included the three years he taught in Richmond, Mass., after his return.

"Finding him desirous of becoming a candidate for Holy Orders, he was furnished with ample credentials of his early piety and exemplary life. In due time he returned to Swedesboro, and spent the winter with the then Rev. Mr. Croes, as an assistant in his academy, studying theology till the spring of 1794, when he obtained testimonials as a candidate for Holy Orders, signed by the Rector, Rev. Mr. Croes, and the Vestry of the Church in Swedesboro. He then returned home, desirous of obtaining a grammar school, and completing his theological studies in that region.

"Knowing of a vacancy at New Lebanon Springs, where I had officiated occasionally, and collected a small congregation, I recommended him as a teacher in their academy, and as a lay reader in the church. In this situation he remained three years. In the mean time he became acquainted with an amiable lady, Miss Olive Lusk, of a very respectable family in Richmond, Mass. (His son, Dr. Wm. C. Nash, understands that their fathers were intimate friends while members together of the Legislature of Mass., which circumstance led to their union.) Her benignity of mind and placidity of manners, like two elements of congenial matter, melted into each other. They were married in Jan. 1796. A more happy couple seldom meet in this jarring world. There was no discord, but harmony and love prevailed at home and abroad, for they were both highly esteemed for courtesy, for success as teachers, and for their amiable deportment and Christian example.

"But I found the field was too small for their expansive minds, which glowed with a missionary spirit. I had myself, for two winters previously, visited the county of Otsego, N.Y., as a missionary, with a view of finally removing to that field, already white for the harvest; but finding my wife inclining to consumption, I was obliged to abandon the project, and proposed brother Nash to take orders and go to Macedonia, which was crying for help. He embraced the offer,--closed his school,--went to New York and was ordained,--the first settled Episcopal minister west of Schenectady, in what is now Western New York. (1852). And by his zeal and indefatigable labors, sanctioning every step by a sober, religious and godly life, being "instant in season and out of season,--going from house to house," preaching the word, baptizing households, teaching them all things necessary for the life that now is and that which is to come,--catechising all, old and young, he did more in thirty-seven years, in establishing and extending the church, than any other clergyman ever did in the United States.

"Most justly did the public bestow upon him the well earned titles of FATHER NASH, and THE APOSTLE OF THE WEST."

DANIEL BURHANS.

REV. DANIEL NASH

Being Further Quotations from "The Nash Family"

Mr. Nash was ordained Deacon by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Provoost in Trinity Church, N.Y., Feb. 8, 1797, and, as appears from the foregoing sketch, went immediately to Otsego County and commenced his ministerial labours. Bishop Chase, who visited that region as an itinerant missionary in 1798-9 says, that on leaving Utica, "he proceeded to pay his respects to good Mr. Nash, at that time living in Burlington, Otsego Co. It was a meeting of two persons deeply convinced of the primitive and apostolic foundation of the church. They were both missionaries, though the name was not yet understood or appreciated. The one had given up all his hopes of more comfortable living in the well-stored country at the east, and had come to Otsego to preach the gospel and build up the church on apostolic ground, with no assurance of a salary but such as he could glean from the cold soil of unrenewed nature, or pluck from the clusters of the few scions which he might graft into the vine Christ Jesus.

He lived not in a tent, as the patriarchs did, surrounded with servants to tend his flocks, and to milk his kine and to bring him butter in a lordly dish; but in a cabin of unhewn logs, with scarcely a pane of glass to let in light sufficient to read his Bible; and even this cabin was not his own, nor was he permitted to live in one for a long time together. All this was witnessed by the other, who came to see him and helped him carry his little articles of crockery, holding one handle of the basket and Mr. Nash the other, and as they walked the road, talked of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God.

The writer can not refrain from tears in bringing to mind the circumstances attending this interesting scene. That man, who was afterwards most emphatically called FATHER NASH, being the founder of the church in Otsego County, was at this period so little regarded by the church at large, and even by his neighbors, that he had not the means to move his substance from one cabin to another, but with his own hands, assisted only by his wife and small children, and a passing missionary. Well does the writer remember how the little one-roomed cabin looked as he entered it; its rude door, hung on wooden hinges, creaking as they turned; how joyful that good man was that he had been mindful to fetch a few nails, which he had used in the other cabin, just left, for his comfort in this, now the receptacle of all his substance. These, he drove into the logs with great judgment, choosing the place most appropriate for his hat, his coat, and other garments of himself and family. All this while his patient wife, directing the children to kindle the fire, prepared the food for--whom? Shall it be said a stranger? No; but for one who by sympathy felt himself more their brother than by all the ties of nature, and who, by the example now set before him, learned a lesson of inexpressible value to him all the days of his subsequent life.

On the 11th of October, 1801, he was admitted to the priesthood by the Rt. Rev. Benjamin Moore, then Bishop of New York. His estimate of Mr. Nash's character may be inferred from the following extract of a letter written by him the day after the ordination, to Gen. Jacob Morris, of Butternuts, Otsego Co.; "Yesterday I ordained Mr. Nash a priest; and it affords me no little satisfaction to reflect that the first act of my Episcopal function has been employed in elevating to the priesthood so worthy a man."

It is known that he was a special favorite of Bishop Hobart.

A particular account of his life during his protracted ministry in that region will probably never be given. The following extract from a letter to a brother clergyman who had desired him to write an account of the churches in those parts shows that he did not intend his own history should be written. The extract, however, gives us an idea of his manner of life.

"This evening is the first time I have collected courage enough even to give an answer to your kind letter,--kind, although you urge me to perform a task which I had resolved never to perform. St. Paul looked upon it as a foolish thing for him to boast of his labors and sufferings, his toils and afflictions. He did it, however, for the sake of affording his friends an opportunity to vindicate his character. I have no such reason to influence me to write the history of the church in this and the adjacent counties,--to do it, I must of course speak of myself, for I was the principal and only minister for many years,--happy years indeed,--I never felt discouraged, neither did I feel alone. My wife was then living,--a noble-spirited, sensible woman, who in the room of feeling discouraged, was the first to cheer me on in my arduous labours.

"The country was then comparatively a wilderness--often she gave me a child and then got on the horse behind me with another in her arms, and thus we would go to our public worship for a number of miles. She excelled in music, and I understood it well,--we were never confounded in that part of the service, and when the congregation did not well understand how to make the responses, she always did it in a solemn, dignified manner. Through all kinds of weather, whether the place was near or remote, I was uniformly at the place a short time before the people began to assemble. This gave me an opportunity to speak kindly to them, and enquire respecting their families. They judged me to feel interested both for their temporal and spiritual welfare, and they did not judge amiss. Whenever a door was opened to catechise in public or private houses, I did it.

"Mr. Battin, of Cooperstown, adds, "One custom of his I have heard of repeatedly. Wherever he went on a visit, he used always to call the children of the household together and question them in their catechism, making sundry kindly, paternal remarks, and calling down a blessing upon them, as it is expressed."..."Often while living and preaching and organizing churches in this county, he went out to visit and preach to the Oneida Indians, in that County, and visited, in his way, church families, stopping at their homes, and catechising their children, according to his custom."

That he was highly esteemed and generally beloved by his people there is abundant evidence. Gen. Morris, writing him a few months previous to his death, says, "No teacher of religion has ever made such an impression upon me as yourself, nor can I feel for any other as I feel for you, my dear, pious, good friend." That he was useful is a fact of general notoriety. From 1804 to 1816, when, to use his own words, "The country was a comparative wilderness," and Episcopalians few and widely dispersed, he reported to Convention, 496 baptisms. In 1817 he was thrown from his carriage, and so severely injured as to preclude active duties for most of the year. In 1819, he reported 104 baptisms. In 1825-6, he was sick much of the time, and soon afterwards was called to mourn the loss of his excellant companion, the partner of his toils, who died while on a visit to her brother-in-law, William Crandal, Esq., of Exeter, Otsego Co., N.Y.

In 1831, he had a severe illness at the house of his son-in-law, Hassan Munroe, of Burlington, in the same county, and for several months he was deemed near his end. He never afterwards entirely regained his health, though he so far recovered by the following spring as to resume his ministerial duties.

In the spring of 1836, he again called on his daughter at Burlington, complaining of indisposition, which grew continually worse until the fourth of June, when his spirit was released from its earthly prison to join the company of the redeemed in a world where sorrow and suffering have no place. His disease was termed by the physicians, dropsy of the chest.

The following notice of his death appeared in the Gospel Messenger, printed at Auburn, N.Y.:

"The Rev. Daniel Nash, long and well known as a faithful missionary in Otsego Co., and its vicinity, died suddenly, though not unexpectedly, of dropsy, on the 4th inst. at Burlington, in the county above mentioned, at the age of 73 years and 7 days. The Rev. Mr. Tiffany, of Cooperstown, we learn, preached a very appropriate sermon at the time of his interment, which took place on the 7th."

He was buried by the side of his deceased wife, in Exeter. But having, in his lifetime, been heard to express a wish that he might be buried in front of the church in Cooperstown, beneath some venerable pines, the bodies were subsequently removed, at the request of the church, and deposited in the chosen spot, where, through the efforts of the ladies, a beautiful monument has been erected, of which a friend has furnished an accurate wood engraving. It is an obelisk of white marble, on a square pedestal of the same material, with a granite base four inches thick, measuring altogether nine and one-half feet from the ground. It stands directly in front of the church, and is inscribed, on the front," FATHER NASH, first rector of Christ Church, DIED June 4, 1836, Aged 73 years and 8 days." On the opposite side appears, "MRS. OLIVE NASH, wife of Father Nash, DIED May 27, 1828, Aged 56 years, and 5 months."

The children of Daniel and Olive (Lusk) Nash were:

1- Daniel	Jan.1,1797	settled at Springville Erie Co.,NY
2- William Chester	Aug.12,1798	" " " "
3- Olive Lusk	June 5, 1800	m. Hassan Munroe,of Burlington,NY

FATHER DANIEL NASH

From "The Story of Cooperstown", by Birdsall

"The saintly life and strange personal charm of the Rev. Daniel Nash, first rector of Christ Church, made a deep impression upon the village of Cooperstown in its early days; and the wide range of his apostolic labors as a missionary gave him a singular fame, during half a century, throughout Otsego Co., and far beyond its borders. The grave of FATHER NASH is in Christ Churchyard, marked by the tallest of the monuments along the driveway, at a spot which he himself had chosen for his burial.

"Daniel Nash was born in Mass. at Great Barrington (then Housatonic) May 28, 1763. At 22 he was graduated at Yale in the same class with Noah Webster. He was originally a Presbyterian in his doctrinal belief, and polity was sympathetic with the Congregational denomination, of which he was a member. But within ten years after his graduation from college, Daniel Nash became a communicant of the Episcopal Church and began to study for Holy Orders. It was one of the quaint sayings attributed to him in later years that "you may bray a Presbyterian as with a pestle in a mortar, and you cannot get all of his Presbyterianism out of him" and when asked how he accounted for his own experience, "I was caught young", he would reply.

Through the influence of the Rev. Dr. Daniel Burhans, who had made several missionary tours through Otsego and adjoining counties, Nash became fired with zeal for missionary work in this romantic and adventurous field. In 1797, having taken deacon's orders, he was accompanied to Otsego by his bride of a little more than a year, who was OLIVE LUSK, described as "an amiable lady of benignant mind and placid manners" the daughter of an intimate friend of his father. They made their first home at Exeter, in Otsego Co., and the early ministerial acts of Daniel Nash were divided between Exeter and Morris, about 18 miles distant.

The missionary zeal of Daniel Nash was so intense that he was unable to comprehend luke-warmness in such a cause. The first bishop of the diocese of New York, Rt. Rev. Samuel Provoost, belonged to a type of ecclesiastical life that was characteristic of the century just then closing. Orthodox, scholarly, not ungenuinely religious, a gentleman of lofty aims and distinguished manners, Bishop Provoost charmingly entertained at his New York residence the rugged missionary of Otsego who came to report to him, but he was quite unable to enter into a missionary enthusiasm that appeared to him fanatical, or to understand the character of an educated man who lived by coice among the people of rude settlements and untamed forests. Nash was so indignant at the attitude of his chief that he resolved not to receive from his hands the ordination to the priesthood, and it was not until the autumn of 1801, shortly after the consecration of the Rev. Dr. Benjamin Moore as coadjutor bishop of New York, that he became a priest.

As a result of tireless labor, of much travel through difficult regions, by the maintenance of divine services at many outposts, Father Nash was able to, little by little, establish self-supporting church organizations throughout Otsego and the neighboring regions. In 1801 Zion Church was built at Morris. Eight years later, Father Nash organized St. Matthew's Parish at Unadilla, and in 1811 completed the formal organization of Christ Church parish in Cooperstown, where the church building had been erected in 1807-1810, and where Father Nash now came to be in partial residence as rector during seven years.

Aside from these parishes which so soon became permanently established, this extraordinary man was regularly or occasionally visiting sheparding the people of many other settlements. In Otsego County, besides giving pastoral attention to Exeter, Morris, Unadilla, and Cooperstown, he held services and preached---to name them in the order of his first visits---in Richfield, Springfield, and Cherry Valley; Westford, and Milford; Edmeston, Burlington, and Hartwick; Fly Creek and Burlington Flats; Laurens, LeRoy (now Schuyler Lake), Hartwick Hill, and Worcester; New Lisbon and Richfield Springs. In Chenango County, after the establishment of the church in New Berlin, he officiated at Sherburne and Mt.Upton. Beyond these points he extended his work to Windsor and Colesville in Broome County; to Franklin and Stamford in Delaware County; to Canajoharie and Warren in Montgomery County; to Lebanon in Madison County; to Paris, Verona, Oneida Castle, Oneida, and New Hartford, in Oneida County; to Cape Vincent ob Lake Ontario in Jefferson County, and to Ogdensburg in St. Lawrence County, 150 miles north of the missionary's Otsego home. Such was the field of the priest who officially reported each year to the convention of the diocese of New York as "Rector of the churches in Otsego County."....

No estimate of his work can fail to take into account the character of the field in which he labored. When he came to this region, the county while partially settled, was mostly a wilderness. The difficulties of travel were great. The manner of life among pioneers was crude. Bishop Philander Chase visited Otsego County in 1799, and gives a vivid impression of the more than apostolic simplicity of Father Nash's surroundings. The Bishop found the missionary living in a cabin of unhewn logs, into which he had recently moved, and from which he was about to remove to another, equally poor, inhabiting with his family, a single room, which contained all his worldly goods, and driving nails into the walls to make his wardrobe. The bishop assisted the missionary in his moving, and describes how they walked the road together, carrying a basket of crockery between them, and "talked of the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God."

In his missionary journies, Father Nash rode on horseback from place to place, often carrying one of his children, and Mrs. Nash with another in her arms behind him on the horse's back, for she was greatly useful in the music and responses of the services.

Father Nash held services puntucally according to previous appointment, but they were sometimes strangely interrupted. The terror of wolves had not been banished from Otsego, and on one occasion, at Richfield, the entire congregation disappeared in pursuit of a huge bear that had suddenly alarmed the neighborhood. The bear was captured and furnished a supper of which the congregation partook in the evening. While the bear hunt had spoiled his sermon, Father Nash cheerfully asserted that it was a Christian deed to destroy so dangerous a brute, even on a Sunday, and it is further related that Father Nash ate so much bear steak, on this occasion, as to make him quite ill.

Father Nash was a man of rugged health, 6 ft. in height, full in figure, over 200 lb. in weight, of fresh and fair complexion, wearing a wif of longish hair parted in the middle, and dressed always, as circumstances permitted, with strict regard for neatness."

THE END

"The record of Rev. Daniel Nash's "Baptisms &C" 1797 - 1827 is contained in an account book, 6½ in. x 15⅝ in. in length; although the fly-leaf bears the inscription "Record of Births, Baptisms and Marriages", no marriages are recorded. From the first entry, Mar.9,1797, to the entry on page 63, "Sep. 22 I baptized 13 children of the Oneida Nation" the record is plainly a copy of a former record; perhaps kept on loose slips or in a book which had worn out.....

Father Nash's Record is kept at the Second National Bank, in Cooperstown, Otsego Co., N.Y.; with this book are also kept the record of St. Timothy's Church, 1838, of Westford, N.Y. Christ Church, of Cooperstown, N.Y. "

BAPTISMS IN CHENANGO COUNTY, N.Y.

There were no locations or addresses given in Father Nash's records, but it is known that he traveled into several Counties in Central New York. Thinking it would be helpful to show, as far as possible, what families lived within Chenango County, the deeds for that period of time have been consulted at the Chenango County Clerk's office, and notes taken from all which show that purchases of property were made by men whose names appear in the baptismal list.
